Apprenticeships

Young people can 'get in and go far' with an apprenticeship at some of Britain's biggest and brightest companies. They can gain the skills and knowledge they need to succeed, in some cases up to degree level and above, while working and earning.

Apprenticeships deliver work for young people, giving them the chance to earn while they learn in a real job, gaining a range of different qualifications suited to their individual needs and a real future. Apprenticeships are available in 1,500 job roles, covering 170 industries from advertising to youth work; environmental engineering and nuclear decommissioning.

To start an apprenticeship, you'll need to be 16 or over, living in England and not be in full-time education. Apprenticeships are available at intermediate, advanced and higher and degree level and take between one and five years to complete. All apprenticeships are real jobs and apprentices must be paid at least the national minimum apprenticeship wage – many employers pay significantly more. Apprentices should work for at least 30 hours per week.

More than 850,000 people were earning and learning on an apprenticeship in 2013/14, across 220,000 workplaces in England. Employers think that qualified apprentices are 15% more employable than those with other qualifications. Many successful careers start with an apprenticeship – on completion the majority of apprentices (90%) will stay in employment.

There has never been a better time to start an apprenticeship with up to 27,000 apprenticeship vacancies available on the 'Find an apprenticeship' vacancy site right now! Visit www.gov.uk/apply-apprenticeship and search apprenticeships or call 08000 150 400.

Traineeships

For young people not ready to go into work or an apprenticeship a traineeship is a stepping stone to a successful future. Traineeships offer young people aged 16-24 a training programme with work experience that unlocks their potential and prepares them for their future careers by providing the essential work preparation training, maths and English skills and work experience needed to get an apprenticeship or other job. Visit gov.uk for more information or search Find a traineeship for traineeship opportunities.

Case Study: Polaris Dyas

The City & Guild's Lion Awards is one of the most prestigious events in the education and training industry. In 2015 over 200 nominations were submitted with the eight deemed to have made the most spectacular achievement receiving a Lion award. The awards not only recognise excellent results but also those who show a true journey of progression throughout the course of their learning, with many of those studying having overcome significant challenges to achieve their goals.

One winner in 2015 was 20-year-old Polaris Dyas, who has completed his Level 2 Business Administration Apprenticeship with North Lancs Training Group (NLTG). Polaris won the City and Guilds Apprentice of the Year Lion Award and the Outstanding Achiever Lion Award - 2 hugely sought after awards.

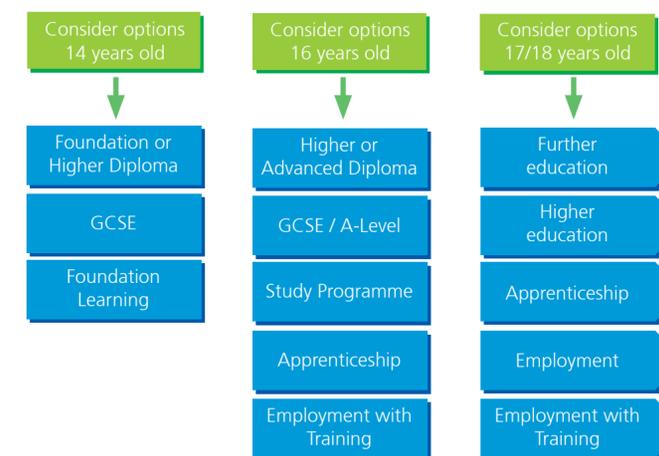

Polaris overcame personal tragedy to excel in his Business Administration Apprenticeship following the loss of both of his parents due to illness as he finished school. Demonstrating his sheer determination to succeed, Polaris sought out an Apprenticeship with NLTG after school. He applied for an Apprenticeship in Business Administration and NLTG quickly found him the perfect position. He was successful at his Interview and got an Apprenticeship at a local printing firm, quickly becoming a highly respected employee. Using his extensive knowledge of IT and with help from his NLTG Training Officer, he has excelled in his role revolutionising systems at his workplace. Not only is he a valuable asset to the company, he also finished his Apprenticeship in just 12 months, 6 months ahead of schedule.

Polaris Dyas: "I wasn't expecting to win two awards so that's absolutely amazing. I'm just really, really pleased that all of this hard work has actually paid off and now I've got something amazing to show my kids and my grandkids.

"My message to other learners is never, ever give up because if you do slip once it's difficult to get back up, but you can do it. I believe in everybody. You always have that chance."
